is to continuously work towards ensuring that each and every person adopts the latest farming technology and are benefitted from it.

Mentioning that A&N Islands' climatic condition and fertile soil are quite favourable for large scale cultivation of local spices, exotic agri/horticulture etc. the Chief Secretary said, farmers and general public should be made aware of the market value of the spices and horticultural produce which when cultivated in large scale can fetch them a good remuneration. In case of financial constraints for taking up such large scale cultivation activities, farmers must be made aware of the schemes implemented by the Govt., bank loan facilities which will facilitate them in taking up such activities, he said.

The Chief Secretary remarked that valuable research activities and farming technology developed by the Institution will merely remain in lab for display, unless it is transferred to the field and urged the researchers/scientists of the Institution to pass on such important knowledge to the farming community at large. "We must not stop until each and every farming community is convinced to switch to modern farming methods, which will not only give better yield but also enable them with better income, only then the hard work and dedication that goes into developing such high end technologies can be fully reaped and realised", said the Chief Secretary .

The Chief Secretary further stated that we must strive to produce agricultural produce which has a brand of its own and stressed on the need to create 'Brand Andaman', so that each and every agricultural products that are produced from Andaman can find its place in the country and in the international markets too. This, he said, can be achieved through adoption of modern agricultural commercial practices, products branding including promotion of bio fertilizers & organic produces which are of high market value in today's world. He called upon the Researchers/Scientists/Officers of various Institutions dealing with Agriculture, Horticulture, Animal Sciences, Fisheries and the line Departments to work in tandem towards bringing about a revolutionary reform in the farming sector with the use of latest technologies and research activities for the betterment of the farming community and the society at large. People should be encouraged to take up poultry farming, goatry, Animal husbandry, pisciculture, dairy and other agriculture and allied activities, so that they can become self sustainable in the long run, the Chief Secretary said.

Encouraging the Officers of AH&VS, Agriculture, Fisheries and the scientific fraternity of CIARI & KVKs, the Chief Secretary said, we must strive to project Andaman as a capable region of producing the best agricultural products, best organic food, high quality dairy and other products etc.

Mentioning about the unique practices of the Apatani tribe inhabiting the Ziro Valley of Arunachal Pradesh, the Chief Secretary said, the Apatani practice aquaculture alongwith rice farming on their plots. Rice- fish culture in the valley is a unique practice in the State where crop of rice and crop of fish are raised together. Integrating aquaculture with agriculture assures higher productivity and year round employment opportunities for farmers, he said and such practices can also be encouraged among the farmers of A&N Islands. He further stated that every Panchayat & village must be sensitized about the benefits of latest agricultural technologies and the farming community must be encouraged to adopt them.

Earlier, the Chief Secretary inaugurated the Modern Goat Unit set up in the campus. He also visited the Cattle & Buffalo shed. The Chief Secretary also flagged off the tableau aimed at promoting 'Natural Farming'. The tableau will traverse across South Andaman to N&M Andaman District with the aim to sensitize farmers on importance of natural farming. The Chief Secretary also inspected the stalls set up at the Mela ground and evinced keen interest on the products on display. He also planted saplings in the campus of CIARI.

The Chief Secretary also felicitated three progressive farmers from South Andaman viz. Smti Kala Devi, Smti Kaushalya Mandal and Shri Ranjit Majhi for their efforts towards practicing and promoting natural farming.

A total of ten stalls depicting the overview of the Institute and its divisional activities, technologies in agriculture & allied sectors for adoption and commercialization, besides dedicated stalls of entrepreneurs adopting CIARI technologies, SHGs selling organic products and Institute Technology Management Unit are open for the visiting farmers during the two days mela.

Earlier, the Director, ICAR-CIARI, Dr. E. B. Chakurkar welcomed the gathering and briefed about the activities of the Institution. The programme concluded with vote of thanks proposed by Dr. Y Ramakrishna, Head KVK and was coordinated by Dr. Jai Sundar, i/c Animal Science Division, ICAR-CIARI.

concerned was asked to be submitted. In front of the Airport where traffic congestion has been reported in the meeting by the PRI members, the Committee requested Transport Department during the inspection to explore the feasibility of running a Bus for pick and drop of students at schools such as VKV, Carmel and Nirmala School.

Further, during the site visit, model parking of two wheelers on one side and four wheelers on the other side from Radha Krishna Temple to AKT Automobiles, Junglighat were checked and will be considered for notification after success of the model parking.

During the inspection, it was observed that widening/resurfacing of the road from KV-I main gate to Carmel School back gate should be taken on priority and there is a need to examine notifying 'No Parking Zone' during school hours from (0700 to 0830 Hrs) and from (1200 to 1430 Hrs) from the KV-I gate to Carmel School Back gate except two wheelers.

The Committee also suggested to develop parking area of Private Bus Stand at Mohanpura and Aberdeen Market. The feasibility study may be done in consultation with the stakeholders such as Market Associations, Public Representatives and Shopkeepers Association for the proposal for the road leading from Ratnam Market to Ganesh Temple at Aberdeen Bazaar and the road leading from Ganesh Temple to AMR Enterprise at Aberdeen Bazaar to be notified as Walking Market for making it congestion free market area.

Further, the Committee inspected the parking facilities at GB Pant Hospital and discussed the proposal of increasing parking facilities for which APWD will submit the feasibility study for further consideration.

Overall, the team inspected all the major traffic choke points in the city for taking steps ensuring road safety, to mitigate traffic congestion and it's regulation during peak traffic hours, a press release from DC (SA) said.
