Vice-President addresses Indian Maritime Seminar (MILAN 2024) in Visakhapatnam Bharat believes in respecting the boundaries and fostering a rule based maritime order: VP

India's maritime strength will be critical to our aim of Viksit Bharat@2047

Visakhapatnam, Feb. 22 (PIB)

The Vice-President, Shri Jagdeep Dhankhar today cautioned that unilateral actions and disregard for international law at sea can have far-reaching consequences, jeopardizing the stability and security of the entire region. He further remarked that, "if not well contained in time, it can go beyond regional disputes." Addressing the Indian Maritime Seminar (MILAN 2024) organised by Indian Navy in Visakhapatnam today, Shri Dhankhar highlighted that challenge to the rule based order is at peak at the moment and described its resolution as unavoidable necessity.

Emphasising global dependence on the seas for trade and commerce, VP underlined the need for observance of maritime order terming it quintessential to peace and harmony of the region as also for maintenance of supply chains and economic growth. Protection of global supply chains, avoiding deeper regional tensions and exploitation of the blue economy are global concerns that can no longer be ignored, he added.

Stating that Bharat recognizes the significance of respecting the boundaries and fostering a rule based maritime order, VP said, "We believe that unscrupulous adherence to international law, including the UNCLOS, is imperative, essential and the only way for the peaceful coexistence and sustainable use of maritime resources." In the present times, the Vice President observed that this aspect is severely strained and compromised.

Referring to the theme of MILAN 2024 - "Partners Across Oceans: Collaboration, Synergy, Growth" as very apt and relevant, VP underlined the need for nations to come together, share experiences, and develop
