On the occasion of 23rd Raising Day of the Andaman and Nicobar Command (ANC) on 08th October, 2023, I extend warm greetings to all personnel and their families.

The significance of the Andaman and Nicobar Islands in our nation's strategic framework cannot be overstated. With the increasing interest and activities of Extra Regional Forces in the Indian Ocean Region, the role played by the ANC, the only Operational Joint Services Command in our country, becomes all the more crucial.

Since its inception in 2001, Andaman and Nicobar Command has demonstrated an indomitable spirit and unwavering commitment to our nation. Her notable achievements in the past have been testimonial to the dedication and proficiency of its personnel. The operational capabilities of the Command have grown over the years with the command emerging as a formidable component of security of our Islands.

My tenures as CINCAN and as Lieutenant Governor, A&N Islands over the last six years have enabled me to witness the yeoman service that ANC has played and continues to do so, towards providing support to the A&N Administration and civilian population, be it in the form of medical aid and causality evacuation, community integration programmes, welfare initiatives in remote Islands, transportation of Police personnel and equipment etc. The recent initiative of the Command to adopt villages, proposed skill development of the youth, and increased job opportunities for local youth are steps in right direction. The A & N Administration and ANC would continue to work hand in hand towards the welfare and security of the islanders. Your presence and effectiveness are greatly reassuring to the populace of these Islands.

On behalf of the Islanders and this UT Administration, I extend my compliments and best wishes for continued success in all your future endeavours. Your tireless efforts in safeguarding our region and assisting our community are deeply appreciated and valued.
